

Have you installed nookStudy?

Posted by Joe Wilkens - 2010/08/24 20:39

Website looks interesting; having a kid going to school next year I'm wondering the primary benefits.

- 1) Save money? Sounds like renting electronic versions can save dough - but a lot?
- 2) Less to carry; but need power and not good outdoors
- 3) Annotations, notes, etc. may be easier than paper. If there is a social aspect where you can share notes with other nookStudy users... Wow, that might be cool.

Guess will try to install it; just curious if anyone else has.

=====

Re:Have you installed nookStudy?

Posted by Soi Pei - 2010/08/30 20:04

I tried it. Couldn't zoom in and out with my mac trackpad, seemed not to be a very mac-ish app. Overall was "ok" surprise no show my college textbooks even though put in my school. Just takes you to website to buy. :(

=====

Re:Have you installed nookStudy?

Posted by Marcus - 2010/09/01 13:06

I'm waiting for the iPad version. screenshots don't impress me. :huh:

=====

Re:Have you installed nookStudy?

Posted by tyler - 2010/10/08 13:45

yeah its working pretty well. I have a few problems with wifi. There is a cool video that explains the basics of it. http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vjydx7_1lmU
Its not a bad video

=====

Re:Have you installed nookStudy?

Posted by Michele Hendricks - 2011/05/06 02:35

Is it free? I got the auto update for the new software last night. I have yet to explore all of the new features, but most of the apps cost you. I know that the nook Study app costs a dollar or two. I don't know how much it would help me if I am unable to access my student website on my NookColor.

=====

Re:Have you installed nookStudy?

Posted by Rubel Hasan - 2012/08/07 03:54

Yes,i am already installed nook study and also waiting for latest version which is helps me a lot.

=====