

PDF documents are cleverly reformatted by the nook for optimal display on the 6" screen (using something called "reflow". The nook does not try to display the PDF in a tiny font and let you zoom in and out of different areas of the document (like an iPhone does with a web page).

We hope a future update will allow you to do this, but it is not possible at this time.