

No, It is a flat view, a list. In the B&N forums it was disclosed a "search" feature is coming for finding books on your nook. We propose a tagging system that would enable "categories" or tag clouds. It could also show you the types of things you read the most over time and the time you spend reading those titles.