The superuser on the Android system is called "root". "rooting" is taking control over your nookColor so you can modify the system and install other software on it. This may void your warranty and could destroy the normal operation of your nookColor.

If you'd like more information read this article on our site.