

According to users in our forum (in this thread ) have had to return the nook for a replacement. It appears to be a "common" problem.